

DANCING WITH HORSES

The new reality dance competition for all

Equestrian charity, Equibuddy, is thrilled to be hosting Dancing with Horses – an equestrian dance off with a twist! Celebrity participants in a team with Riding for the Disabled Vaulters, their parents and siblings for an extravaganza of what anyone can achieve on the trained horse.

The panel of judges will be made up of Anne Stark (international vaulter), Ian Stark her international eventer father in law and Tony Dobbin (Grand National Winner). The judges will be looking for entertainment value with the celebrity participants ranging from international rugby players to rally car drivers.

Jenny Leggate, co-founder of Equibuddy: “The evening we hope will show what an inclusive sport vaulting is (essentially gymnastics on the back of a moving horse) while providing an entertaining evening for all! Each team will be bringing back their Equibuddy horse to show what they can do with their newly formed team.”

Equibuddy incorporates the internationally acclaimed Lauderdale Vaulting Club into the charity with their Novice and Senior squads demonstrating on the evening. Jenny claims: “This will end the evening on a spectacular note! The Lauderdale Vaulting Club is an integral part of the charity due to their tireless work with the Equibuddy horses and the fundraising they do to compete them.”

The evening’s entertainment will take place on Tuesday 16th June, 6.30pm at Greenlawdean, Greenlaw and tickets can be purchased from Kirsty on 0845 241 1398 or kirsty@equibuddy.org. There will be a hog roast, bring your own picnic with tables provided. So who will be crowned the champions?!
